PRACTICE TEST 1

SUBJECT I (2,5 POINTS)

Read the text. Are the following statements true (T), false (F) or you don't know (DK)?

I live in Iași, a big city in the northeast of Romania. There are many things to do and see here. The most famous landmark is the Palace of Culture, a beautiful palace with a clock tower where you can visit four different museums. If you don't particularly like museums, just enter the building and admire its main hall and staircase for free. Close to the palace there is a huge shopping mall and a French garden where children and teenagers enjoy spending their free time. Some sit on the grass, have ice cream and chat with friends, while others prefer to go to one of the many coffee shops and terraces for more sophisticated desserts and drinks. If you get hungry, the restaurants both inside and outside will offer anything you may want, from burgers and pizza to Lebanese and Chinese food. This is not the only attraction in my city. Personally, I prefer Copou with its elegant houses, the oldest university in the country, the botanical garden and all the busy parks. Some people love Cîrcuț with its forest, lakes and swimming pools. Everyone should come to Iași at least once.

SUBJECT I (2,5 POINTS)

Read the text. Are the following statements true (T), false (F) or you don't know (DK)?

Everybody loves superheroes. They give us hope that good can win over evil. Superheroes have special powers which they use to fight the bad guys and to help the people in need. In a lot of cases, their identity is secret, so they wear special clothes and sometimes even a mask so that people don't know who they are. Some superheroes use special weapons or tools, like Thor's hammer or Wonder Woman's lasso of truth. But even superheroes need help sometimes, so their friends, or "sidekicks", are there by their side. In some cases, more than one superhero is necessary to defeat evil, so superheroes group together. The most famous example is The Avengers, which includes Captain America, Iron Man, Hulk, Thor, Black Widow, Black Panther, and others.
